BROOKLYN, 7; ST. LOUIS, 3. St. Louis, Aug. W-Brooklyn opened here st. Louis, Aug. W-Brooklyn opened here to-day and won hands down. 'Cy" Young was easy picking, and the Superbas' great work on the bases netted them seven runs. At that it was only because they were too daring in circling the sacks that they did not double the score. The stick work of the entire Brooklyn team, save Cross, the short stopping of Dahlen, the batting of Donlin and the phenomenal one-handed catch by Donovan were the features. The score:

Two base hits—Donlin, Kitson, Three-base hits—Donlin, Criger, Home run—Donlin, Hit by pitcher—Heludrica, Double play—Cross, Farrell and Jennings, First base on balls—Off Kitson, 1; off Young, 1. CINCINNATI, Aug. 9.—Only about five hundred persons saw the New Yorks defeat the Cincinnatis in a close game to-day. Mercer was a stumbling block in the path of the Red batsmen and their hits were scattered. Scott was hit freely, but it was not until the fifth inning that the New Yorks were able to hunca their hits. Poor work on the bases also kept down the score, Davis and Doyle being caught napping off first. The score:

In the second heat he broke again and was distanced. lime Piece captured the first heat, but Tom Nolan then took command and got two heats with ease. Fred M., who had been laid up for three heats, challenged Noian in the last one and made a race of it to the wire, but the Gen.

King Jack was allowed to win one heat and then Mr. Kawson's gelding gathered in three as he pleased, Corinne being the contender. Pussy Willow met with an accident in the Pan-American stake for 2:25 pacers. She was an equal favorite with Sally Hook, at $500 each to $35 for Charley Hayt. McDonald drove Hook home first in the opening heat, Pussy Willow finishing far back. In the second heat Pussy got tangled in her hoppies and fell on the back stretch. Cobbett went over Pussy but was not hurt. Driver McHenry got a nasty fail and had to be carried from the track. He escaped without any broken bones, but was well bruised and shaken up. Hayt was then instilled as favorite and took three straights, with Sally Hook second in each. The weather was good but the attendance only fair. Summarias:

Three Great Pacers Perform at Olean. OLEAN, Aug. 9 .- Nearly 10,000 persons saw the harness races of the Jersey Farm Association to-day. The star attraction scheduled was a race between Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry, but owing to Gentry having sprained an ankie, the race was declared off. The management, however, determined to give the spectators the full worth of their money, and all seemed pleased that they could see a race between Anaconda and Coney, as well as to receive a chance to see Patchen pace against time over a half-mile track. He went the full distance in 2:0634. The contest between Anaconda and Coney was won in two straight heats by Coney. Time, 2:0844 and 2:1045 in the second heat Anaconda went to pieces and before the driver could get him under control Coney had the heat easy. In the unfinished 2:22 trot of yesterday Wilhelm Meister won in one more heat. Summaries:

BELMONT CRACK PRACTICALLY LEFT AT THE POST BY CALDWELL. linley Mack, Also Of Badly, Wins the Big

Event at Saratoga-Stewards Notify the Starter That He Must Use a Barrier-Cherries the Only Successful Favorite. SARATOGA, Aug. 9.-Kinley Mack, winner of he Brooklyn and Suburban handleaps, and Sthelbert, winner of the Metropolitan Handicap and Brighton Cup, again met to-day in the Beverwyck Handicap of $5,000, for three-yearolds and upward. Ethelbert opened up an even-money favorite, and, after receding at one time to 3 to 1, was backed down to 11 to 5, at which price Rockton and Martimas were also well supported. Kinley Mack closed at 8 to 1. While at the post there was considerable skirmishing and then came an awful start. The horses were all strung out, and Turner, the rider of Ethelbert, as well as McCue who rode Kinley Mack, began to pull up, not thinking it would be a go. Ethelbert was half turned around when the flag dropped, and Turner hastened to send him along after the field. . He was at least five lengths back of Kinley Mack, with the others several lengths out in front. Martimas, Mr. Jersey and Charentus went out to make the running. On the far turn Ethelbert and Kinley Mack moved up. Ethelbert on the outside while Kinley Mack got through on the rail and saved several lengths. Making the turn into the stretch Kinley Mack got through and took the lead, while Ethelbert fell back a trifle Turner rallied him, and he responded so gamely that at the furions pole it looked as if he would win. But the finish was too near at hand, and after a hard drive Kinley Mack won by a head. As a result of the defeat of Ethelbert, which brought storms of hisses for Starter Caldwell, the stewards informed him that he must have a barrier on hand by the time the races begin to-morrow or else use the Clark machine which is on the ground.

The closing of the races at Brighton yesterday brought out a large delegation from New York.

The closing of the races at Brighton yesterday brought out a large delegation from New York. A field of twelve ran in the first race for which Fleuron was the choice, but Fonsolee got the best of a bad start and won in a hard drive by a neck from Cupidity. In the second race Far Rockaway, backed from 19 to 5 to 1, received a poor send off and after going all around his field was only beaten a head by Beliario after a terrific drive.

The talent scored for the first time in the fourth race, which had thirteen starters. Cherries looked the best of the lot and was made the favorite. Himself was also well supported and his price fell from 8 to 1 to 7 to 2. Goddess of Night led for three furiongs where Cherries went to the front and won in a drive by a length and a half. Himself was crowded out on the fat turn but closed strong and finished third. Flamero was the choice in the closing race but the 12-to-1 chance Remp won in a hard drive by neck from the 15-to-1 shot, Osceola. Summary:

match the horses at once. He was willing to match Ethelbert for from $5,000 to $10,000 a side, from a quarter of a mile up to four miles. Wimmer would not accept the challenge, saying that Ethelbert was sound and his horse was not, and then again Ethelbert preferred a dry track while Kinley Mack was best over a heavy or soft track. This probably ends all hances of a match between the two.

It was learned here to-day that a prominent member of the Metropolitan Turf Association was ordered to pack his trunk and go after the Brighton meeting ended on Wednesday. It appears that the investigations of the bad riding at the meeting brought forth the fact that from the appearances of his sheets he was dealing in 'dead ones.' He was informed on Wednesday afternoon that he was wanted in the Secretary's office and Bob Pinkerton acted as his escort. What was said to him in the office is not known, but it is certain that he is not wanted around the Metropolitan tracks. match the horses at once. He was willing to

LINE ON BIG FIGHTERS.

HOW BOB FITZSIMMONS AND GUS RUHLIN COMPARE.

Akron Giant" Expected to Play a Waiting

Game-Cornishman May Do Damage if Mix-Ups Are Frequent-Ruhlin Has Advantage in Age, Weight, Height and Strength. Robert Fitzsimmons, whose only defeat during a ring career of ten years in this country was at the hands of Champion James J. Jeffries, will be put to another trying test in the ring of the Twentieth Century A. C., Madison Square Garden, to-night, when he faces Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron Giant," in a 25-round bout. Ruhlin beat down and stopped Tom Sharkey at Coney Island last month, the end coming in the fifteenth round. Prior to his decisive victory over Sharkey, there was not much to be said in Ruhlin's favor except that he was a big, strong rugged fellow, fairly clever, game and willing to take a punch. With such clever instructors and handlers as James J. Corbett and Billy Madden behind him, however, Ruhlin developed something he never possessed before, science and genera'ship, together with unusual quickness of action and implicit faith in the orders he received in his corner.

While Corbett received much credit for Ruhlin's triumph over the Sailor, still the Akron fighter was entitled to much praise because he did the actual fighting and did it in such an novice in his hands. Indeed, it is a fact that never before in his career as a prizefighter did Sharkey receive such a thorough whipping as in this instance. Unable to make a match with Jeffries, whose arm is keeping him in temporary retirement, Ruhlin took on the next best man in Fitz-immons.

In making this match the principals realized two things: First, that if Ruhlin should win, he would be so justly entitled to a fight with Jeffries that the latter would either be forced to accept or forfeit the championship. Second, that if Fitzsimmonshould win he would be in line for another run in with the big boilermaker to regain his jost laurels. In addition to these things, the men saw visions of big gate receipts and their sight was good, if indications mean things, the men saw visions of big gate receipts and their sight was good, if indications mean anything.

The best line on Ruhlin is his victory over Sharkey. In that encounter it will be remembered that Sharkey went to his man at every stage of the game with hard rushing and heavy swings. Ruhim with well-timed footwork and clever blocking avoided nearly all of these blows and then with a time left hand he simply jabbed the Sai or in the head until he,was "beat to death," as the bloodthirsty talent put it. In fact Ruhlin met Sharkey just as Jeffries met Fitzsimmons both the Sailor and the Cornishman being whipped in very much the same way. But Fitzsimmons slugged sharkey out all rightin their memorable battleon the coast when the referee, by att Earp, decided that Sharkey won on a foul. Those who saw that fight say that Sharkey never had a chance to whip Fitz, who punche i the Sailor at will, and could have stepped him almost at any period had he cared to do so. So when comparing Ruhlin and Fitz with the idea of getting at the winner of tonight's fight, it is useless to bring the Sharkey line into the reckening, except, with the fact night's fight, it is useless to bring the Sharkey line into the reckening, except with the fact that Fitz is older now, and much older than Ruhim.

Several years ago Ruhlin fought twenty rounds with Jeffries in California. The decision was a draw. At that time neither knew much about the game. Ruhlin, however, held his own and has been asking for a return match ever since. Men who have wa ched these two big fellows in their more recent battles declare that they employ the same methods. That is to say, they are not fond of taking the offensive, but prefer to have an opponent come in with e style. That was rush and swing and nch. Had Fitz-immons been in Ruhlin's ace that night he would probably have ished Sharkey with equal despatch and set chich. In all Pitzimmons been in Aunina place that night he would probably have finished Sharkey with equal despatch and effect.

Fitzsimmons, having learned a lesson from his disastrous fight with Jeffres, understands well what to expect from Rubin. Fitz has seen Rubin fight a number of times and believes that he knows how to trum Madden's blg protege. The Cornishman never had one set style of fighting. Hie has been a man quick to take advantage of the situation in the ring, no matter how suddenly it might change, and in this way he has won many important fights by landing a punch on the proper spot. It never has taken long for Fitz to finish a man after he has once got home one of his great wallops; and for this reason all the puglists he has met in modern times have feared to mix it with him. Jeffries was particularly careful not to get in too close, and so he handled Fitz solely at long range. Whether Rubin will adopt similar factios remains to be seen.

Fitzsimmons knocked out the "human freight car." Ed Dunkhorst, in the second round with one left-hand wallop in the ear. It took Rublin twenty-three rounds to beat Dunkhorst and then he could not put him to sleep, the seconds throwing up the sponge. This gives a lair idea of the hitting power of the two men. Fitz is the greater puncher. He can book, jab, swing or uppercut with equal force and is a two-handed slugger of tremendous strength. He likes infighting better than long range work and can make a punch, travelling only three inches, do the knock-out trick. Fitz is also as quick as a cat to see openings and is one of the trickiest fighters in the profession. He may appear to be very grougy at some stage of tonight's encounter, but it may only be a case of "stalling" in order to catch Rublin off his guard.

The Akron man is a good, stiff puncher, but he cannot produce results like the Crinishman. If he had been able to hit as hardas Fitz, Rublin comes to his man the latter will be more than satisfied as Bob is a terror at this style of going. But if Rubl

Bob is a terror at this style of going. But if Rublin stays off and waits for Fitz to do the attacking it will not be such easy sailing for the lanky man. And it is preity good betting that if Corbett's advice goes Rublin will be prepared to stand off and make a long, careful, jabbing fight or it until he has old Fitz well beaten up for the right-hand swing to the jaw.

Fitzsimmons could not get to Jeffries with enough powerful smashes to put him in distress, while Corbett actually had the champion groggy in the ninth round. Sharkey could make no better impression on Jeffries than Fitz, yet Sharkey knocked out clever Kid McCoy. Can Fitz get to Rublin?

The weights enter into the calculations with much prominence. Rublin will weigh close to 200 pounds, while Fitz will scale about 170. Rublin is taller, younger and is probably stronger in physique. But Fitz knows more about the inside workings of the ring and is crafty enough to overlook nothing. Possibly Fitzsimmons may find a way to reach the Akron man with one of his punches that has knocked all the fight out of so many opponents in the past, and then again Rublin may handle the Cornishman just as Jeffries did. Whatever the outcome, the fight bids fair to be a rattling one.

Fitzsimmons has trained, he says, and is fit.

Betting on the result did not improve yesterday. The sports are apparently waiting for the bookmakers and plungers who are expected from Saratoga this morning to break the ice. The odds yesterday favored Fitz at 8 to 5. Some sports, however, would not give any better price than 5 to 4. The Chicago, Baltimore and Denver delegations arrived here yesterday afternoon. The Windy City sports are as follows: Tom Hanlon, "Smiler" Corbett, Judge Gibbons, M. D. Madden, E. F. Hutchinson, James P. Monahan, John T. Reilly, George Reedy, H. Everitt, H. K. Fischer, William J. Casey and J. A. Long. The party is divided on the outcome and have brought with them over $15,000 to place on the outcome. The Baltimore sports, headed by Al Herford, arrived on Wednesday night and are as follows: Ernie Gebhardt, Hugo Bernstein, George Mann, John Farrett, Jr., George Parrott, Eddie Hirsh, Joe Waldorf, Billy Hinton, Frank Rommell and C. Gumblinner. Herford and his friends are almost to a man for Fitzsimmons. Jack Rose of Bridgeport has a commission of $5,000 to wager on Fitzsimmons at 6 to 5.

Champion Jeffries, who is analous the winner, yesterday issued the following statement through his manager, Billy Brady:

I have been in active training for the past two weeks preparing myself for the emergency that may make it necessary for me to defend my title before Sept. I find that my arm is improving steadily and although I have been advised by my physicians not to take a chance until they declare the arm has completely recovered its former strength, a statement that they have refused to make as yet; I have decided for myself that I will take the risk that the doctors advise against, and I now stand ready to make a match for the world's championship with the winner of to-mornow's battle, the bout to be decided in or about New York city before Sept. I. If Gus Ruhiln should win I admit without question that he is entitled to first chance, and I am willing to grant it to him on any fair terms, before the club offering best inducements, I realize that he will, if he wins, have defeated two great men within a very short space of time, and if he elects that he wants to meet me for the world's championship I am ready. I do not want to force him and I shall not bother him unless he challenges me.

He must meet me before Sept. I, or wait at least six months after that date, as my time shall be occupied with other matters during the period between Sept. I and May I. So if he aspires to my title here is his chance. If Robert Firstmomons is the winner I stand ready to give him another chance on certain conditions provided he agrees to meet me before Sept. I, he will have to wait until my time, and grant the same roughtions to me that I gave him when he was champion. I defeated Fitzsimmons in a most decisive manner, and therefore do not consider myself bound to meet him, but will give him another chance if he arrees to box before Sept. I. I hope both Ruhiln and Fitzsimmons will realize that I mean business, and if the winner to-morrow is not disabled in any wey, a ten minutes' conference on Saturday morning will be s

RICHPIELD SPRINGS, Aug. 9.—The Otsego Golf Club's open tournament began to-day with a fine array of starters, a number of metropolitan players being on hand. He did the course in 41 and 45, his 85 being cight strokes better than the best of the other cards turned in and won the go.d medal. The course 12,260 yards long and rather sporty, the longest hole being 450 yards and the shortest 140 yards. The bodgy score is placed at 38, but it is no easy matter to play it in that players have to contend with. It is a comparatively narrow course, with creeks, brooks; ditches and all kinds of annoying bunkers and hazards in addition to hangling and cuppy lies. The scenery, however, is grand. The lake, and the commanding view from the hillipps of the lake, and the commanding view from the hillipps of the lake, and the lowlands, gives the course a most picture-que appearance. Among the players of the North Jersey Shore League the idea seems to prevail that the Seabright team is likely to win the championship. The hottest match from the local view will be between the Hollywood and Deal teams, on Aug. 18, at Deal. The rules require that there shall be six on a team, but as many more men may be played as desired. It is thought that there will be twenty on a side in the match. It is runnored that it will be the greatest betting event ever known in American soif, although whatever wagers have been made or will be

DAVIS AND WARD TAKE DECIDING GAME FOR INTERNATIONAL BOWL.

Black and Barrett, the English Tennis Team, Beaten in Three Straight Sets-Visitors Unable to Cope With the Winner's Lobs-Vietory Gained by Narrow Margin in Each Set. BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The supremacy of the American lawn tennis players over the team of English players which came here to contest for the Davis International Lawn Tennis Challenge Bowl has been unmistakably demonstrated, for in the doubles match, played at the Longwood Cricket Club grounds this afternoon, Dwight F. Davis and Halcombe Ward defeated E. D. Black and H. Roper Barrett, three straight sets by the scores of 6-4. 6-4 and

To-day's victory settles for this year the question of whether or not a team of players could be produced in England which could cross the Atlantic and play a game that would be superior to that which can be put up by Whitman, the national champion of singles and by Davis and Ward, the national champions of doubles. The Davis trophy will remain in America for at least another year.

Under the conditions of the tournament in order to take or hold the cup, it was necessary for one of the teams to win three of the five matches, four of which were at singles and one at d ubles. Yes'erday's two victories gave the Americans two of the three points they wanted and all hinged on this afternoon's match. If the Englishmen had won the doubles, they would have had one roint to their credit, and would then have stood a show to take home the bowl. The two final matches in singles are to be played to-morrow afternoon and the drawings seem to favor the chances of at least one of the Englishmen taking a set. The visitors are extremely disappointed over their showing so far and are very anxious to win both of the remaining matches if they possibly can So some hot tennis is expected to-morrow afternoon between Whitman and Black and Gore and Davis.

The story of to-day's game is not so easily told as that of yesterday's matches, for the Englishmen certainly put up better tennis, and the Engli-hmen had won the doubles, they
